4. Acquisitions—(a) Sculptures, etc.—During the year under report 147 antiquities (Museum Register no. 3648 to 3794) consisting of stone sculptures, inscriptions, terracottas, clay sealings, and bronzes were acquired for the Museum. They included 32 selected antiquities presented by Sri Govind Charan, Curio Dealer and Museum Agent.

The following acquisitions deserve special notice :

No. 3651. Railing pillar carved with a Buddha figure standing in abhaya-mudra. Face broken. On the reverse there are two panels. In the upper one Buddha is seated in dhyana-mudra. The lower panel contains parinirvana scene, which is partly broken. Red sandstone. Kushana.

No. 3657. Terracotta head of Vishnu. The Krita-mukuta is tastefully decorated over the curly hair. Gupta.

No. 3662. Terracotta headless figure of Vasudhara, standing with the left hand placed on her hip. Below her right hand is shown a fish. Red clay. Sunga Period.

No. 3663. Terracotta headless male figure. The dress is very interesting. Red clay.

No. 3670. Ganesha in dance pose. Ten handed Ganesha is dancing, while two figures are seen playing on musical instruments. Buff coloured stone. Early Medieval.

No. 3671. Terracotta male figure with a beautiful turban. The figure is very finely carved and is in smiling pose. Kushana. Red clay.

No. 3678. Lower part of a Buddha image. Only the right portion of the pedestal and the right foot is preserved. There is a Brahmi inscription on the extant portion.

No. 3686. Lower part of an image of Vasudhara. She wears several ornaments and holds a pair of fish in her right hand. Red clay. Sunga.

No. 3691 and 3692. Clay sealings.

No. 3697. Buddha head finely carved. Red sandstone. Gupta Period.

No. 3724. Headless terracotta image of Kubera. The scarf is tied round the stomach. Red clay. Gupta.

No. 3730. Terracotta Vishnu head. The halo around is complete. Gupta Period.

No. 3763. Upper part of a Nagi image with five miniature female figurines emerging above. Red sandstone. Kushana.

No. 3767. Part of an earthen lid broken in five pieces, now joined together.

There are several designs including a female holding branch of a tree standing in a graceful pose.

No. 3768. Part of a lintel carved on both sides. On one side there are two figures—one male holding a bow, behind whom is standing a lady figure holding quiver of arrows. The scene most probably represents a hunting party. Below there is an inscription in Brahmi characters of 1st Cent. B. C. referring to the donation of the Torana (lintel) by one lady (Devi). On the reverse are seen two figures—one female, badly damaged, and the other a boy, holding an umbrella. Red sandstone.

No. 3770. Male head, probably of Bodhisattva with a very tasteful coiffure decorated with flowers. Part of halo behind is visible. Red sandstone. A good specimen of the Gupta Period.

No. 3775. Terracotta dwarf figure carved in the round wearings a number of ornaments. Red clay. Kushana.

No. 2779. Terracotta female head beautifully carved. Red clay. Gupta.

No. 3784. Terracotta male figure with both hands placed on the right shoulder. The figure is nude; wears heavy ear-rings. Black clay.

No. 3786. Terracotta figure of an elephant. The feet are broken.

No. 3790. Terracotta female figure standing under a blossoming tree. She holds a bird in her right hand. Red clay. Sunga Period.

(b) Coins—In all 844 new coins were added to the Museum Coin Cabinet. These included punch-marked, tribal, Kushana and also coins of the Kshatrapa and Mitra rulers of Mathura.

5. Arrangement—The important additions to the Museum were displayed in the galleries after thoroughly cleaning and mounting them on wooden pedestals. Suitable tables in English and Hindi were provided to them.

6. Educational activities—On the occasion of the Nagari Script Reforms Committee held at Lucknow, in November, 1953, two illustrated brochures—(1) Uttar Pradesh-ki-Aitihasika Vibhuti (Hindi) and (2) Archaeology in Uttar Pradesh (English), written by the Curator, were published by U. P. Government. Both the publications were much appreciated by the Central and State Ministers, Educational experts and foreign scholars.

A number of research articles were also contributed by the Curator to the leading Journals and Periodicals in India.

7. Library—During the year, 65 new books dealing with Indian art, history, archaeology and literature were added to the Reference Library of the Museum. Important journals and periodicals were continued.

8. Building—The Museum buildings and gardens were maintained in a fairly good condition, as usual.

9. Visitors—The Museum was visited by a large number of visitors and tourists from India and abroad. The batches of students from local and outside educational institutions were taken round the galleries. Occasional lectures were delivered to them by the Curator and Sub-Curator. The Foreign Embassies at New Delhi continued to visit the Museum frequently.

The All-India Congress Session was held in October, 1953, at Agra. On this occasion, the Mathura Museum was visited by several Central and State Ministers and other dignitaries, who highly praised the valuable contents, the nice display in the Museum, its architectural building, the lawns and gardens.

The Rajyal of Uttar Pradesh, Sri K. M. Munshi, and the Hon'ble Minister for Education, U. P., Sri Hargovind Singh, graced this Museum by their visits. They were taken round by the Curator. Besides, the following distinguished persons visited the Museum :
